Don't Be Sad...

1. Don't be sad when the skies overcast are and dreary, Don't be sad when the winds ripped away early fruit. Or your aweep-net returned without fish from the river, Or your best friend has told you an ugly untruth.

Don't be sad, don't despair, there's a Comforter mild! By compassion and love He is constantly led. He directs us through mountains and streams in the wild To the Land without sin that is waiting ahead.

- 2. Don't be sad if "the world is resistant to changes," Reason being, that vice is its essence and core. Only those who believed, hoped and loved through the ages, Have survived, braking layers of evil and gore.
- 3. Don't be sad, don't despait, above clouds there is sunshine! Calm and stillness do always appear after the storms And a catch may through nets brake abundantly sometimes, And some friends may be true both in words and in deeds.
